

User Guide for Talkie^3

Subsystem 1:

1. Talk button: The button is used as a transmission button. The user needs to press the button in order to transmit the voice over to the other subsystem.
2. Green LED: The green LED indicates that the transmission is going on. Whatever the microphone inputs is transmitted over to the other subsystems.
3. Red LED: The red LED indicates that the receiving is on going or the system is waiting for the receiving to be available.
4. Speaker: The speaker outputs whatever is transmitted by the other subsystem.
5. Microphone: The microphone inputs whatever the user wants to transmit over to the other subsystem.

Subsystem 2:

1. Talk button: The button is used as a transmission button. The user needs to press the button in order to transmit the voice over to the other subsystem.
2. Green LED: The green LED indicates that the transmission is going on. Whatever the microphone inputs is transmitted over to the other subsystems.
3. Red LED: The red LED indicates that the receiving is on going or the system is waiting for the receiving to be available.
4. Speaker: The speaker outputs whatever is transmitted by the other subsystem.
5. Microphone: The microphone inputs whatever the user wants to transmit over to the other subsystem.